SUMMER STUDIO

OPEN STUDIO HOURS

2-6 pm; Monday-Thursday

July 7 - August 14

Drop In

If you want a break from sweating, sleeping and swimming, come by the studio and invent creative happenings only hot summer days can inspire. Develop pictures from your summer adventures in the darkroom. Finally learn to screen print. Publish your own zine of drawings and writings. Think up a new project for the large window display. It's up to you!

ART INQUIRY: Creative Correspondence

11:30-3:00pm; Monday-Thursday

July 7 - August 7

Applications Due Friday June 13th

16 paid positions open

Also known as mail art, correspondence art takes many forms from illustrated letters, handmade envelopes and zines to artist trading cards, artistamps, and postal experiments. Working with artist mentors Ben Fino-Radin and Andrew Oesch, students create new work and co-lead public workshops around this summer's theme. Students also work with artists from RISD on a video correspondence project. The program culminates with a gallery exhibition in October. Youth receive a $400 stipend for their participation.

SPECIAL EVENTS

July 25 - Zine Swap @ 5pm

Traditionally lemonade trucks are signs of an approaching summer in Providence. At New Urban Arts we know summer by the emergence of a dedicated energy towards cutting, pasting and stapling. Catch the zine-making bug this summer and make your own Xeroxed publication to swap with other artists at the annual Zine Swap.

July 31 Art in the Park @ 6pm

Enjoy an evening of animated films, spoken word poetry and other art in the park with your family and friends. Save the date, bring lawn chairs and blankets, and meet us at Dexter Training Grounds, behind the Armory at 73 Dexter Street. This event is free and open to the public.

October 10 Summer Exhibit Opening

Celebrate the work created over the summer including mail art and much more as we kick off the year with a gallery opening during Studio Open House Week. This event is free and open to the public.
